SON NOT SENT TO SCHOOL IS CHARGE

Case Continued Against J. G. Bower, Butler Township, For Lack of Evidence.

NON SUPPORT CASE ALSO

Will Try to Settle Case of Mrs. Florence Swope Against Her Husband Before January Session.

For the first time in a number of years, hearing was held Saturday evening in the offices of Justice of the Peace J. L. Hill for violation of a provision of the State School Code which requires a child to attend the public schools of the district in which it lives continuously during the entire term. J. G. Bower, the father of Clyde Bower, his eleven-year-old son, was hailed before the justice on oath of Elson Lower, Table Rock, secretary of the Butler township school board for failing to allow the son to attend the Bridge School. Fred House, Biglerville is teacher of the school.

For several months, Mr. Bower refused to allow his son to attend the school and chased the truant officer away when he approached his house, it was alleged. He stated that it was not compulsory for him to send his son to school under the conditions in the township.

After hearing the evidence on both sides, Justice of the Peace Hill continued the case until Saturday morning, December 10, at 10 o'clock for the reason that the school board in the township failed to show that Clyde Bower had been absent from school three days or their equivalent without lawful excuse or was absent three days after notification of the parents by the truant officer.

Another reason for continuing the case was the fact that the School Board failed to show there was a school house in Butler township, within two miles of the place the Bower boy lived and that since no free transportation was furnished by the board the child was under no necessity of attending the school by law. Under the statute a child need not attend a public school when living more than two miles from the nearest school when free means of

OLDEST HUNTER GETS BIG BUCK

Nine Point Deer Falls For William Benchhoff, Aged 75.

KNOWN AS "UNCLE BILLY"

Walked Ten Miles to be on Hand For Start of Season. Buck is Killed With One Shot.

To the oldest hunter in the South Mountains, William Benchhoff, aged 75 years goes the credit of bagging the largest deer of the present season in the South Mountains, according to reports from the various camps. Mr. Benchhoff's kill was a nine point buck measuring 22 inches across the antlers and weighing 200 pounds. It was shot at the head waters of Thomas Creek, seven miles west of Iron Springs in the heart of the mountains.

Mr. Benchhoff, or "Uncle Billy" as he is known to every hunter in the hills, prefers to hunt alone and accordingly last Wednesday afternoon, left his home in Hamiltonban township and walked to a deserted cabin ten miles distant to be ready for the sunrise, the opening day.

At this deserted cabin high up on the mountains, he slept Wednesday night and was about early, preparing himself a meal before going on a post to await his quarry. The spot where Mr. Benchhoff hunts is far from the beaten track and few hunters penetrate as far into the mountains.

After sunrise the veteran marksman left his cabin and posted himself at a spot some few hundred yards away to await the run of the deer. His vigil was rewarded at nine o'clock when he saw a magnificent buck on a dead run about 150 yards from the spot he was standing. Raising his rifle and sighting carefully, he fired and the big buck stopped in its tracks and fell mortally wounded. No further shots were necessary to dispatch it.

Dragged Buck To Cabin

The question of bringing the buck to his cabin presented itself next, but undaunted, the aged hunter dragged his kill through the brush to his cabin

FIRST SNOWSTORM HEAVY

Deer Hunters Welcome Downfall. Dirt Roads Clogged.

The tail-end of the heavy snowstorm that struck the Rocky Mountain region Saturday reached this section early Sunday morning and produced a five-inch fall for the first of the season. Snow fell throughout most of the day and clearing late in the evening brought sharply declining temperatures. The fact that the ground was not frozen caused melting during the day and made many of the county dirt roads almost impassable.

Deer hunters welcomed the precipitation of snow for the antlered animals will be more easily tracked and it will be possible to see them at greater distances.

The snow clung to the trees and buildings and became picturesque in its decorations. It also gave hopes for a white Christmas and impressed the mind that December 25 is less than three weeks away.

In Colorado and Wyoming six and seven inches of snow fell and temperatures dropped to as low as twenty degrees below zero.

AGENT RUDISILL HAS RESIGNED

Leaves Prohibition Force "Because of Unsatisfactory Working Conditions."

LED MANY LIQUOR RAIDS

Enforcement Officer Feels There is Lack of Co-operation. Has Not Selected Future Work.

Claiming "unsatisfactory working conditions," to exist under which he cannot do justice to his office, A. E. Rudisill, of Gettysburg, grouphead for Central Pennsylvania of the Federal prohibition department, with headquarters in Harrisburg, has submitted his resignation to S. F. Rutter, associated director for Pennsylvania, to take effect on December 27.

The resignation of Mr. Rudisill has been accepted and word received at the Harrisburg office from Philadelphia that a successor will arrive within a few days. According to advices from Philadelphia, Harry MacNamara at present attached to the Philadelphia office will replace Agent Rudisill.

While the resignation of Mr. Rudisill was somewhat unexpected, recent advices from Washington indicated there would be a change in the administration of the Harrisburg office shortly a Harrisburg newspaper says.

Mr. Rudisill states his resignation had been purely voluntary and is entirely due to a desire on his part not to permit his work of the last two years to go to waste through lack of co-operation at this time. At present Mr. Rudisill is on a leave of absence which began on December 1 and will continue until December 27, when his resignation takes effect. This leave, he says, is the regular thirty-day leave allowed all agents having ser-

BAD CHECK LANDS PASSER IN JAIL

Russell Mathews Awaits Trial For Issuing Worthless Paper.

The services of Thomas J. Simmons, of the York Wrecking Company are worth more to the company than a piece of worthless paper which Russell Mathews, Railroad street, handed him after pulling his machine from the muddy waters of the Codorus Creek on the night of November 17, and for passing this check, Mathews is now lodged in the Adams county jail awaiting a hearing.

On the night of November 17, Mathews in company with another young man of Gettysburg drove to York to visit friends. While speeding down Clark Alley, York, on their way home without realizing where he was going, Mathews suddenly found himself in the waters of the Codorus. It was fortunate for Mathews that he was not drowned for the machine after striking the water turned over and it was only with great difficulty that he extricated himself.

The police were notified and they in turn secured Mr. Simmons to right the machine and pull it from the creek. After this was done, the automobile was found not to be any the worse for its bath and after handing Mr. Simmons a check for $8, Mathews went on his way.

The check was deposited and came back to Simmons, marked "no funds" whereupon a warrant was sworn out for Mathews whose name was signed to the check. Charles Wilson, Gettysburg, served the warrant on Mathews Saturday evening and lodged him in jail to await a hearing in York.

His injuries consist of a split right ear, requiring four stitches to close, a laceration of the forehead, a cut on the top of his head and bruises and lacerations of the body.

Shortly after the accident Mr. Evans was picked up by Preston Baum, of near York Springs. Mr. Baum hurried to Dillsburg for medical assistance and secured Dr. W. L. Crawford. The injured man was removed to his home not far away and his injuries dressed.

At the time of the accident Mr. Evans was on his way to Dillsburg and was walking on the right hand side. Two machines approached him one from the front and the other from the rear. In order to avoid being struck he stepped from the concrete, but was hit by the car coming from the rear. The driver of neither machine stopped.

CHURCH GROWTH TOLD IN HISTORY

Work of Dr. J. B. Baker Tells of Achievements of St. James.

HISTORICALLY ACCURATE

Many Incidents And Characters Recalled by Present Members. Twenty Pastors Have Filled Pulpit.

A complete history of St. James Lutheran Church, from its inception in 1789, together with all its diversified departments, up to the present pastorate, has been completed by the pastor, Rev. Joseph Baer Baker, D. D., and was distributed to the members of the congregations at the services Sunday. The book is complete in every detail and from a historical standpoint is authentic, according to persons who recall many of the incidents it portrays.

"The authentic history of St. James Lutheran Church of Gettysburg, is exactly as old as the history of the United States of America, for in the very year in which Washington took his oath of office, 1789, the Lutheran and Reformed of Gettysburg and vicinity came into existence worshipping in an old log school house on the corner of High and Stratton streets," according to the opening paragraph of the historical sketch. The first minister known to the records of those times was Rev. J. George Baugher.

The first part of the history is devoted to the accounts of the various pastors which have filled the pulpit of St. James and the buildings housing the congregation since its birth. Twenty pastors have filled its pulpit and five edifices have sheltered its congregation, according to the history.

PLAN TO DEVELOP FARM COMMUNITY

Meetings to be Held Throughout The County During Winter.

DISCUSS LOCAL PROBLEMS

County Has Been Divided Into Twelve Communities. Farm Bureau Suggests Wide Range of Projects.

Arrangements are now being made for holding meetings in each of the twelve communities established by the Adams County Farm Bureau through which this organization expects to develop various farm projects during the year.

Barlow was the first community to organize and decide upon a program of work. A meeting will be held at Fairfield in the school house Wednesday evening and another at Abbottstown Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing with agriculturists the program to be adopted. These meetings are open to every one interested in the work of the farm bureau.

Members of the farm bureau will explain at the meetings what has been accomplished in the way of agricultural development in the county and suggest projects that the community might adopt. The county has been divided into communities for the purpose of specializing in each section in the particular farm problems that are most important in that particular section.

Among the projects the farm bureau is suggesting to the communities are corn variety tests, cow testing associations, pig clubs, breeders clubs, fertilizer demonstrations on any crop, poultry demonstrations, lime problems, drainage and insect and disease control. There are many other projects that may be placed on the program.

RUTH FINED AND SUSPENDED

Will Not be Permitted to Start Next Season.

(By Associated Press) Chicago, Dec. 5.—Babe Ruth's share of the world series profits in 1921 were declared forfeited and Ruth himself suspended until May 20, 1922, by Commissioner K. M. Landis in a decision today fixing punishment for the New York Yankee ball player for participating in a post season barnstorming tour.

Ruth may apply for reinstatement on May 20 or within ten days after that date, commissioner Landis said. The 1922 baseball season starts about the middle of April so that Ruth will be prevented from participating in baseball for at least one month next season.

Bill Piercy, New York American pitcher, and Bob Muesel, the Yankee right fielder, were given the same punishment by Landis. They participated in the trip with Ruth. The trio started out from New York city playing several games in New York state but the trip was called off after they had been warned that they were violating the rules of organized baseball.

ARBUCKLE JURY FAILS TO AGREE

Final Vote in Manslaughter Case Reported Ten to Two.

FOREMAN BLAMES WOMAN

Prosecuting Attorney Says Film Star is Not Vindicated by Verdict Comedian Calls it Moral Victory.

San Francisco, Dec. 5.—After 41 hours of deliberation the seven men and five women on the jury which tried Roscoe Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe were discharged yesterday when they were unable to agree upon a verdict.

The jury was brought into court at its own request at noon, reported a disagreement and asked that it be discharged. The foreman announced that the final ballot stood 10 to 2, but he did not say whether the majority favored conviction or acquittal. Court officers said, however, that the balloting favored acquittal throughout. The case was set for retrial January 9.

In a statement following the jury's return Arbuckle declared one of the five women jurors had prevented his acquittal "because she refused to allow her fellow-jurors to discuss the evidence or reason with her and would not give any reason for her attitude." He did not name the juror.

Brady Compliments Jurors
District Attorney Brady said that Arbuckle had been given a "fair and honest trial," and complimented the jurors who held out for conviction as having "courage and determination." He was not in court when the jury reported.

"I had hoped the jury would reach an agreement," he said. "I confidently expected a verdict of guilty upon the evidence presented. In my opinion, the disagreement does not vindicate Roscoe Arbuckle. A vindication could come only after a quick, unanimous verdict. It was my duty to present the facts to a jury. This I have done, though opposed by wealth, power and influence."

The members of the jury looked haggard and worn when they filed into the little courtroom, over which a deep hush had settled, and took their seats. The foreman, August Fritz, informed the court "it is physically and morally impossible for us to reach a verdict." At the request of the court he announced the final ballot division.

Judge Wanted Verdict
Superior Judge Harold Louderback, who tried the case, told the jury he wanted to determine if further deliberation might result in a verdict. "It is not my desire to force any unnecessary hardship on you," he said, but this case has taken three weeks to try and has been conducted at great expense. If you can come to a verdict conscientiously, I desire you to do so."

He then asked each juror for an opinion on the matter of continued balloting, and each answered emphatically that it would be impossible to reach a verdict.

The members of the jury refused to make statements of any kind before leaving the building. After reporting to the court they were escorted to a side street by deputy sheriffs and taken to their homes in automobiles. Fritz let it be known later, however, that he expected to make a statement, according to Gavin McNab, chief defense counsel.

Vindication, Says Arbuckle
"While this, through the technicalities of the law is not a legal acquittal, morally it is such," Arbuckle said, in discussing the jury's inability to agree.

SOLDIER KILLED NEAR CAMP DIX

Body of Man Found in Woods Indicates Mysterious Crime.

Mount Holly, N. J., Dec. 5.—With two bullet holes in his head, one perforating the skull over the ear and another through the cheek bone, the body of a soldier was found in the woods known as "The Laurels," near the Camp Dix disposal plant, late Saturday by Eugene Emmons while gunning with Harvey Pettit and Charles Harris, all of Wrightstown. County Detectives Parker and Cain; Major Warren, of Camp Dix, and Chief of Police Carabine, of Wrightstown, are working with Coroner Glover in an effort to establish identification. The skeleton is about the only thing left, but camp surgeons were able to determine that the man had been murdered. The body was in uniform, but the cap was missing and the clothes so badly rotted that officers say it has been impossible to obtain identification marks except to determine the man belonged to the infantry. Some markings taken from the shoes may give a clue. In the pockets were some keys and a rosary.

Detective Parker says it cannot be told how long the body was in the thick bushes, but the man's underclothing was of summer weight, indicating that the murder was committed before October 1, when winter clothing is issued to soldiers. There was no weapon with the body, removing any chance of suicide theory. Camp records will be carefully examined in an effort to determine who disappeared prior to October 1. Major Warren feels that his officers can give valuable assistance in quickly solving the mystery and interesting developments are expected.

SON NOT SENT TO SCHOOL IS CHARGE

transporting it to and from the school are not furnished.

Mr. Bower was released on his own recognizance to appear before the Justice next Saturday morning.

Another case was disposed of by Justice J. L. Hill, Saturday, when Mrs. Florence Swope, 20, appearing against her husband, Earl Swope, 22, of Aspers, charging him with non-support and unfaithfulness agreed to attempt a settlement out of court before the January term at which time the writ against Mr. Swope was made returnable. If the case is settled out of court before that time the action will be dropped according to the justice. Mr. Swope was released under $200 bail furnished by D. P. Delap, of Aspers.

Prior to bringing this action Mrs. Swope had been making her home with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weigle, Chambersburg street, while her husband had been living with his parents at Aspers. She alleged that he sent her no money for her support or that of her infant child. She also told a tale of unfaithfulness on his part but in spite of this circumstance, she said that she would be willing to live with him if he would provide a house where they could live.

The two were married about three years ago and for sometime, lived with Mr. Swope's parents at Aspers, but here the plaintiff, Mrs. Swope declared conditions were so unsatisfactory that she returned to her home in town.

J. L. Butt, Esq., appeared for Mr. Swope. He expressed the hope that the young people could come to some agreement before the meeting of court. Should this be done the case would be dropped, according to Mr. Hill.

ANGLO-JAP PACT MAY BE ANNULLED

Extension of Chinese Consortium Urged as Practical Substitute.

PROPOSAL NOT OFFICIAL

Suggest Mutual Abrogation of Agreement by The Two Nations. Hope to Avoid Friction.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—Extension of the Chinese consortium, or its development into a more comprehensive agreement was suggested last night by unofficial Japanese as a suitable and practicable substitute for the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. Mutual abrogation of that convention by Japan and Great Britain is viewed as one of the possibilities of the present conference.

As put forward yesterday, the suggestion was that the consortium be developed or merged into a general political agreement among the four or five great Powers. The idea was based, its proponents explained, on the contention that any definite political agreement as to the Far East, including especially China, must in the period of world reconstruction give way to, or be built upon, economic essentials. In other words, it is contended that keen economic rivalries affect political stability and are liable to create friction and serious disputes necessitating conciliatory conferences from time to time of the contending parties. This, it is pointed out, coincides with President Harding's suggestion for continued conferences and might form the basis of a practical inter-understanding.

Provisions of Consortium

The Chinese four-Power consortium of October 15, 1920, specifically declares that the national groups composing it believe that the interests of the Chinese people can best be served by co-operative action in procuring for the Chinese Government the capital necessary for a program of economic reconstruction and improved communications. It is remarked that a particular political importance attaches to the agreement because the Powers were able to make fairly definite arrangements with Japan concerning the so-called special interests of Japan in South Manchuria and eastern inner Mongolia. The arrangement was concluded after a visit to Japan of Thomas W. Lamont, representing the American group of bankers, who succeeded in obtaining the withdrawal of the Japanese objection to the inclusion of Manchuria and Mongolia into the scope of the consortium.

It was understood at the time that frank exchanges led to a full appreciation by the American, British and French Governments of Japan's purpose in merely having a guarantee of the security of her national defense and her economic existence. The Japanese Government issued an announcement that the above Government expressly declared that they not only contemplated no activities inimical to the vital interests of Japan, but that they were ready to give a general assurance which would be deemed sufficient to safeguard those interests.

Japan Clings to Interests

Declaration by Japanese delegates at Friday's conference that Japan had no intention of relinquishing her holdings in the Manchurian Province of Kwangtung has been interpreted in some quarters as official notice that Japan intends to hold fast to all her legitimately acquired interests in Manchuria and Mongolia. Vice Foreign Minister Hanihara, who announced the Kwangtung policy, added this sentence, which has attracted attention in political circles as, perhaps, indicating Japan's position on any future political arrangements:

"The territory in question forms a part of Manchuria—a region where by reason of its propinquity to Japan's territory, more than anything else, she has vital interests in that which relates to her economic life and national safety."

STUDY PACT SUBSTITUTE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 5.—The draft of a quadruple entente which would serve as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, it was learned today from authoritative sources, is now under consideration by the governments of the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France. This is said to explain the delay of the Japanese government in announcing its decision concerning the question of the ratio of naval tonnage because it appears that as the problem of warship tonnage is connected with national policy the two matters are being discussed together. There was a growing impression today that if an entente can be worked out satisfactorily Japan would not insist upon her request for a 70 per cent ratio of capital ships as against the sixty per cent suggested in the American proposal.

MYSTERY QUARRY YIELDS AUTOS

Deep Hole in Maryland Was Dump For Machines. Probe is Started.

Port Deposit, Md., Dec. 5.—After three weeks' spasmodic efforts the trained riggers from the Perryville U. S. P. H. reservation have succeeded in solving the mystery of an abandoned quarry near Sylmar, on the Mason and Dixon line. Three weeks ago two boys heard the chug of an automobile; then a heavy body hit the water forty feet below the top of the quarry. Residents in the neighborhood made ineffectual attempts to raise the supposed automobile.

William Patterson and others of the Perryville plant was sent to Sylmar with a force of riggers. They soon brought to the surface an Essex car bearing the engine number 85,027 and carrying New Jersey license tag 958,402.

Taken To Nottingham

The car was in good shape and was taken into Nottingham, Pa., by Deputy Sheriff Harry Hall, on its own tires. In the car was an overcoat containing an advertising pencil of an Atlantic City firm.

The next catch was a radiator of a Hudson "Super-Six" car with no identification marks. Then there was brought to the top the cushion and back of the front seat of a Cadillac, under a cushion in which was one-half of a New Jersey driver's identification card, giving a portion of the owner's name and three final numerals of his number.

The catches of the day indicated that this hole, measuring 150 feet in length, 40 feet wide and 75 feet deep, has been the receiving station for cars the presence of which was no longer desired. With more than 34 feet of water and precipitate banks 40 feet above it, the hole was ideal for that purpose.

Difficult To Reach

The quarry is more than a mile from the Lincoln highway. The drivers of the cars must have been experienced and familiar with the country. "Tickridge" and "No Man's Land" are the local appellation for the barren rock and land overgrown with scrubby pines.

ved the government for one year.

Mr. Rudisill has made no plans for the immediate future, he says.

Mr. MacNamara, who it is understood has been assigned to Harrisburg, is said to have recently entered the prohibition enforcement department. Following the resignation of Grover G. Hollister, as grouphead of the Wilkes-Barre office, several months ago, he assumed charge of that district until a permanent man was assigned. During the last few months he had been attached to the Philadelphia office.

WILL CELEBRATE EDUCATION WEEK

Schools in Town And County Arrange Special Programs.

Following the decree of President Harding several weeks ago announcing December 5 to 19 as Education Week throughout the United States, the Schools of Gettysburg and Adams county will follow schedules, the aim of which are to inspire a desire for education in the minds of the pupils and to increase interest generally in school work.

Special programs have been prepared by the many schools in the county, according to County Superintendent H. Milton Roth, and in the history classes of the local High School an outline of the work to be taught this week has been announced.

Today the subject was "Our Flag, the ideals for which it stands; its meaning; and the proper respect to be paid it." On Tuesday, the subject will deal with American ideals and with the heroes and the idealistic high points in American history. On Wednesday, the American language will be the topic for discussion.

On Thursday and Friday the problem of immigration will be the theme. The origin of the immigrant will be related and the evolution which must take place before he can become an American citizen will be recounted.

Similar programs have been arranged for other rooms and in the grade schools and it has been announced that town people will be welcome to attend any of the meetings in the various schools this week.

ANOTHER ARMS PROBLEM

Social Leaders in Doubt as to Which is Which.

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Dec. 5.—Whether a man should offer his right or left arm to a woman is agitating Parisians. A decision by Andre de Fouquieres, the accepted arbiter of social customs has not settled the question.

He said, "always the right arm, indoors," a custom surviving from the days when all gentlemen carried swords and wanted to be quick on the draw. Outdoors, he said, no man ever offers his arm to a woman "except in cases of danger," which the newspapers hold is the normal condition in Paris streets.

Therefore, regardless of good form, those debating the matter generally agree that a man should take hold of a woman's right arm with his left hand, instead of offering his right arm, because the women consulted said they intended continuing to carry their purse, parasol, packages, etc., in their left hand, and the men insisted a cane belonged in the right hand.

HEAL BATTLE AREAS

Seedlings From U. S. Growing in France Now.

Washington, Dec. 5.—American seedlings, fast growing into mighty trees, already are beginning to heal the war scarred areas of Europe. Not only are they being nurtured in France and Belgium but in Great Britain also and in Ireland.

The French ministry has ordered that the seedlings shall be located in places readily accessible to main travelled roads, and, if possible, near well known sites "with the view that such future forests shall remain as a monument to the partnership of France and America in the Great War." The same sentiment also prevails in Great Britain which actually lost more forest cover than any other country by the sudden demands of war for materials. In Belgium, in the once beautiful Ardennes where the German axe left nothing standing the beautiful American Douglas fir is lifting its head.

REPORT DEATHS IN P. & R. WRECK

town for this city.

The wreckage took fire and early reports were to the effect that a number of persons were burned to death. The place of the accident is rather isolated.

According to passengers few were killed in the first impact, but many casualties occurred when the wreckage caught fire and ate its way through the demolished cars where passengers were caught. Rescuers were almost helpless because of the flames. At one time three of the wooden coaches were on fire and were almost completely burned. Because of the tangled wreckage officials of the company said it would be impossible to learn how many persons lost their lives until the debris has been completely searched.

Forrest Belman, of Southampton, a passenger, describing the wreck, said the locomotives were piled together with first coach of the southbound train lying on top of the tender and first coach of northbound train almost in the same position. Fire started almost immediately and burned fiercely. Some of the uninjured in the first coach southbound crawled through windows, he said.

CAMPS REPORT KILLS

Allen Currens, of the Mount Hope Gunning Club, shot an eight pronged buck on Saturday afternoon weighing 180 pounds.

BRIDES MUST WEAR LONGER SKIRTS

Minister Lays Down Five Regulations Regarding Attire of Women.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 5.—Rev. W. C. Robertson, of Christ Episcopal church, of this city, yesterday issued rules governing the attire of brides and wedding attendants, which, among other things, says that "skirts must not be higher than where the spring of the calf of the leg begins and be wide enough to allow of genuflecting before the Blessed Sacrament * * * without exposing the calf much less the knee."

The pastor intimated that anyone violating the rules would not be allowed to take part in a wedding ceremony in the church.

Following are the five regulations promulgated and which will be sent to prospective brides and their maids:

"1. No dress called technically an 'evening dress' will be allowed—that is, no extra lowness in the neck, but generally what women now wear upon the street—a modern 'V' round or square neck with a complete back and front.

"2. Skirts must not be higher than where the spring of the calf of the leg begins and be wide enough to allow of genuflecting before the Blessed Sacrament, which is the custom of this church, without exposing the calf, much less the knee.

"3. Sleeves must not be shorter than the elbows.

"4. A real covering of hat or veil must be left for the head.

"5. If transparent or semi-transparent material is used, sufficient lining must be used."

CHURCH GROWTH TOLD IN HISTORY

A description of the building of the present church is told in detail.

One of the most interesting chapters in the book is that entitled "History of St. James in War." Here the story of Jennie Wade, a member of the congregation, is told graphically as well as that of Corporal John C. Skelly, Keller Culp, and Samuel M. Pitzer and others whose stories are not told in current history. The chapter also contains sketches of what the church accomplished during the Spanish-American war and dwells at some length upon the part the congregation played in the World War. A list of all the members of St. James who fought in the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars are appended to the chapter.

"The Lutheran Church came into the world singing" starts the chapter on the History of St. James Choir and a lengthy comment on the choir in existence since the inception of the church is interesting reading. Jeremiah Culp, a distant relative of the present organist of the church, Ethel Culp, was a member of the first choir. Miss Tillie Gillespie, who was organist from 1849 to 1872, is remembered as a well-known teacher of the piano by older members of the congregation.

The book also contains chapters on the history of the Sunday School, W. man's Missionary societies, Mite society, Christian Endeavor societies, Men's Brotherhood, Boy Scouts (of the church), Sons and Daughters in the Ministry, Prominent Characters, Tributes and Membership. The closing chapter of the history contains the name of every member of the Church and Sunday School.

The material for the volume was procured from old church histories, old diaries, letters and magazines. The work is replete with photographs, many of which are of great historical value. There are cuts of old Sunday School classes, former pastors and former churches. Two years were spent in the compilation of the volume which is considered by many one of the most complete and most authentic histories written.

GERMAN CANNON ACCEPTED

Captured Guns Finally Given Place In County Forest Preserves.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—The controversy over the use of captured German cannon as decorations for the gateway of the Cook county forest preserves ended Saturday in a victory for the patriotic organizations who protested the ruling of President Daniel Ryan, of the County Board, against acceptance of the war souvenirs from the War Department.

When the offer was received from the War Department recently, President Ryan recommended it be declined, on the ground that the peaceful forest preserves were no place for war like reminders of conflict. The American Legion and others contended that they would preserve memories of the world war, and thus serve as a preventive against such a conflict in the future.

Announcing that he had only expressed his own opinion, President Ryan moved reconsideration of the War Department's offer and voted to accept the cannon.

FOREST FIRES ON DECREASE

Figures For Present Fall Show Big Improvement In The State.

Harrisburg, Dec. 5.—Reductions in the forest fire losses of the State in the fall fire season are shown in a statement issued Saturday by Commissioner of Forestry Pinchot. New records in the total area burned over and the average acreage per fire were established and the commissioner says: "The people of Pennsylvania are getting their money's worth from the $1,000,000 appropriated last spring by the Legislature to put down forest fires."

The average number of fall forest fires in the last five years was 254; in 1921 there were 197. The average area burned over in the five years was 21,564.73 acres in a year; in 1921 it was 4085.68, or less than one-fifth.

DISAPPOINTMENT KILLS

Bethlehem, Pa., Dec. 5.—Failure to enter the service of the State police is believed to have been responsible for Jacob G. Kemerer, 24-year-old son of Albert G. Kemerer, sending a bullet through his brain at his home Saturday, death being instantaneous.

For several years young Kemerer, who was the grandson of the late State Senator Jacob Kemerer, was employed as assistant teller at the Lehigh Valley National Bank. He gave up his position a month ago to enter the State police. Last Wednesday he failed to pass the examination at Harrisburg because he was under weight, and he brooded about it.

gram, farm bureau men declare, and the schedule of work will be decided at the meeting that will be held during the next few months.

Barlow and Brysonia were the only communities actually organized last year and excellent results were obtained through various demonstrations and exhibitions. This year it is expected twelve communities will follow a pre-arranged schedule of farm improvement projects. The following towns have been named as community centers for the farm bureau work. Barlow, Littlestown, Abbottstown, Gettysburg, York Springs, Hampton, Bendersville, Brysonia, Biglerville, Cashtown and Fairfield. Agriculturists, it is pointed out, should become members of the centers nearest which they live.

SUICIDE SHOULD BE REMINDER

Death of Whittlesey Shows Poison War Leaves in Souls of Men.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—The suicide of Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, leader of the famous "lost battalion," should serve as a "shocking reminder of how the poison of war leaves its trace in men's souls long after the fighting is over," according to John Thomas Taylor, chairman of the legislative committee of the American Legion here.

Taylor, who has been in close touch with the situation surrounding sick and wounded service men since the armistice, declares that thousands of men are in the same mental condition as was Col. Whittlesey, a condition credited with having his suicide. The gallant leader's untimely end, Mr. Taylor says, is a summons to the nation "to save its broken defenders before it is too late."

"Nearly 50,000 mildly insane veterans have passed through our hospitals since the armistice," the Legion official declares in a statement. "Despite our efforts, the Government has not yet built one good hospital for the care of these men nor established one good rehabilitation center for their cure. If a highly educated, well provided for veteran like Whittlesey surrenders, what may we not fear for the thousands of discouraged, broken-minded and often destitute men kicked around from pillar to post by their Government?"

More than one third of the 30,000 disabled veterans now receiving treatment are mentally disabled, according to Mr. Taylor. Of these 10,000, almost 7,500 are scattered through the country in asylums for the criminal and pauper insane.

PATS A BURGLAR ON HEAD

Woman Thinks Him a Dog Until He Rises And Attacks Her.

Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 5.—When Mrs. Isaac Coombs, of Lewis street, Minersville, was about to enter her home Saturday night she noticed what she supposed to be the head of her favorite dog near the front porch. Stooping down to pat the animal's head Mrs. Coombs instead found her hand rested on the head of a burglar who was awaiting a chance to rob her home.

The man took Mrs. Coombs by the throat, shaking her and striking her in the face in his anger at being discovered. Leaving the woman too helpless to get aid, he fled.

BLUFF COSTS HIS LIFE

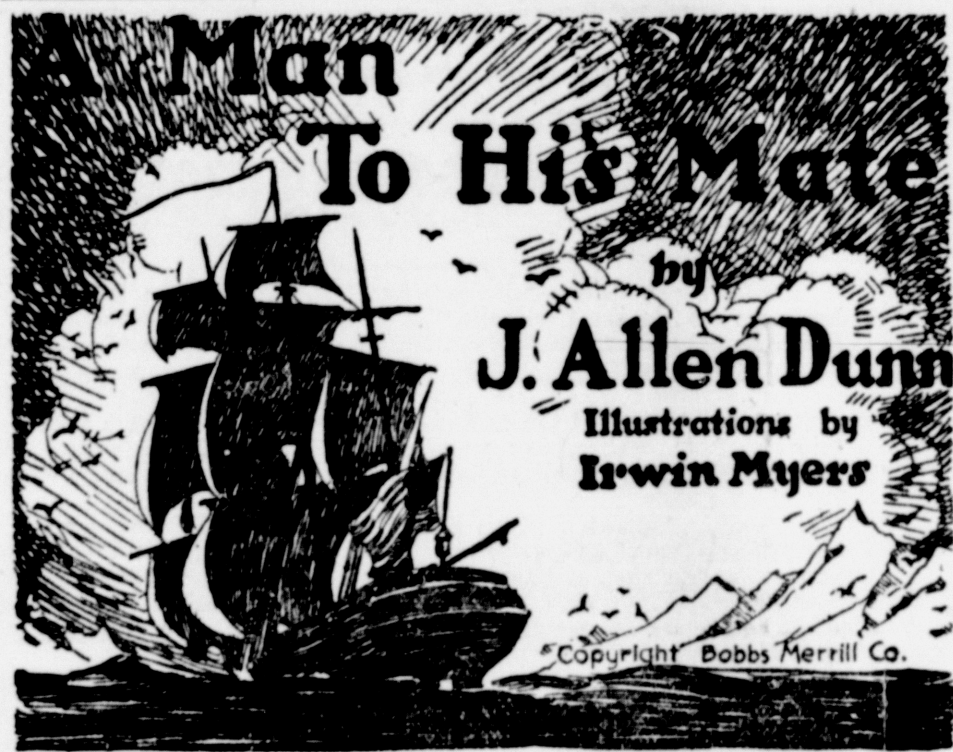

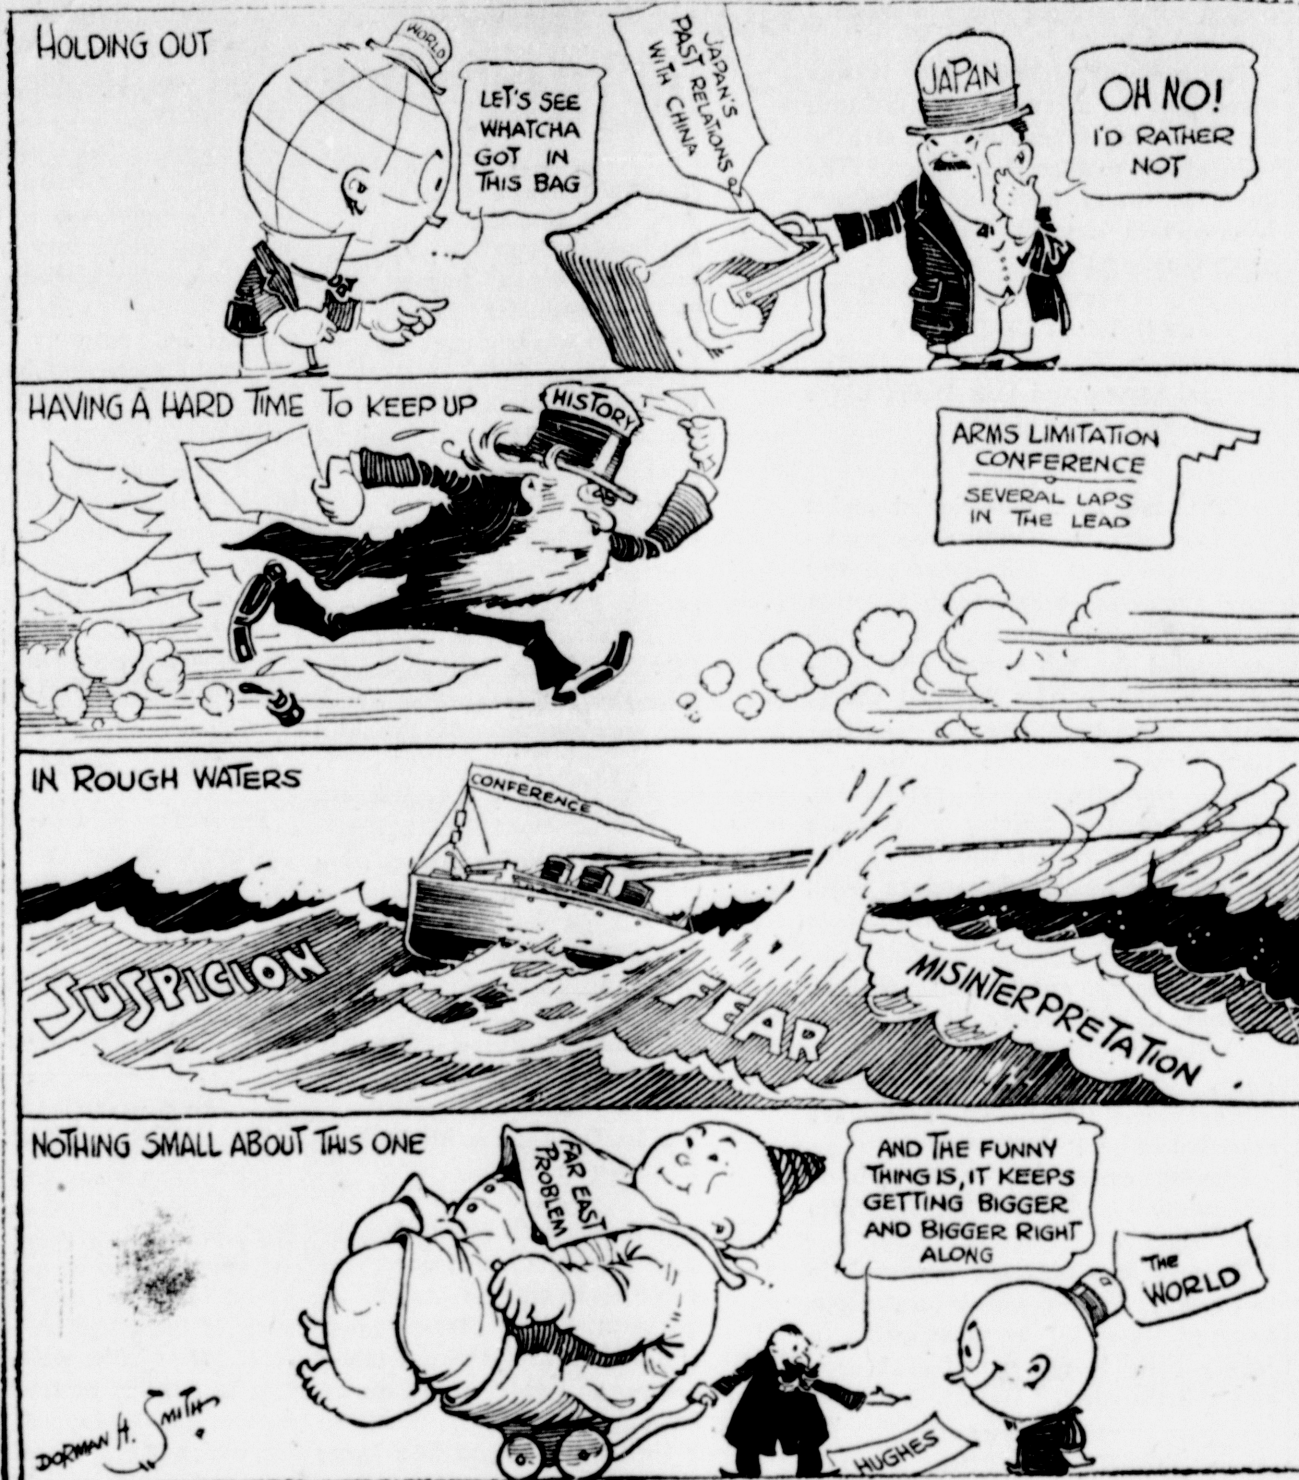

Greenwich Village Bandit Counted Too Strongly Upon Unloaded Gun.

New York, Dec. 5.—A bluff with an unloaded pistol cost an unidentified hold-up man his life in Greenwich Village yesterday.

The robber attacked Gottlieb Stolz, restaurant proprietor, using the empty weapon as a club, and Nicholas Geissler, proprietor of an adjoining shop ran in with a pistol.

"Drop that—you know it's not loaded," commanded the hold-up man, aiming his own empty gun at Geissler. Geissler fired, sending a bullet into his head.

CONFERENCE SIDELIGHTS

"That's a man's life," went on Lund. "Travel's all right, but a man's got to do something, buck something, start something. An' a red-blooded man wants the right kind of a woman to play mate. Polish off his rough edges, mebbe. I'd rather be a rough castin' that could stand filin' a bit, than smooth an' plated. An' when I find the right woman, one of my own breed, I'm goin' to tie to her an' her to me."

"I'm goin' to be rich. They've cleaned up the sands of Nome, but there's others'll be found yit between Cape Hope an' Cape Barry. Meantime, we've got a placer of our own. With plenty of gold they ain't much limit to what a man can do. I've roughed it all my life, an' I'm not lookin' for ease. It makes a man soft. But—"

He swept the figure of the girl in a pause that was eloquent of his line of thought. She grew uneasy of it, but Lund maintained it until she raised her eyes from her work and challenged his. Rainey saw her breast heave, saw her struggle to hold the gaze, turn red, then pale. He thought her eyes showed fear, and then she stiffened. Almost unconsciously she raised her hand to where Rainey was sure she kept the little pistol, touched something as though to assure herself of its presence, and went on sewing. Lund chuckled, but shifted his eyes to Rainey.

"Why don't you write up this voyage? When it's all over? There's adventure for you, an' we ain't half through with it. An' romance, too, mebbe. We ain't developed much of a love-story as yet, but you never can tell."

He laughed, and Peggy Simms got up quietly, folded her sewing, and said "Good night" composedly before she went to her room.

"How about it, Rainey?" quizzed Lund. "How about the love part of it? She's a beauty, an' she'll be an heiress. Ain't you got enny red blood in yore veins? Don't you want her? You won't find many to hold a candle to her. Looks, built like a racin' yacht, smooth an' speedy. Smart, an' rich into the bargain. Why don't you make love to her?"

Rainey felt the burning blood mounting to his face and brain. "I am not in love with Miss Simms," he said. "If I was I should not try to make love to her under the circumstances. She's alone, and she's fatherless. I do not care to discuss her."

"She's a woman," said Lund. "And you're a d-d prig! You'd like to bust me in the jaw, but you know I'm stronger. You've got some guts, Rainey, but you're hidebound. You ain't got half the git-up-an'-go to yell that she has. She's a woman, I tell you, an' she's to be won. If you want her, why don't you stand up an' try to git her 'stead of sittin' around like a sick cat whenever I happen to ad-dre her looks? "I've seen you. I ain't blind enny longer, you know. She's a woman an' I'm a man. I thought you was one. But you ain't. Yore idea of makin' love is to send the gal a box of candy an' walk pussy-footed an' write poems to her. You want to write life an' I want to live it. So does a gal like that. She's more my breed than yores. If she has got education. An' she's flesh and blood. Same as I am. Yore half sawdust. Yore stuffed."

He went on deck laughing, leaving Rainey raging but helpless. Lund appeared to think the situation obvious. Two men, and a woman who was attractive in many ways. The only woman while they were aboard the schooner, therefore the more to be desired, admired by men cut off from the rest of the world.

Lund sooner or later, meant to take her, willing or unwilling. He had said so, none too covertly, that very evening. And, if Rainey meant to stand between her and Lund as a protector, Lund would accept him in that character only as the girl's lover and his rival.

For the time being, the safety of the Karluk and the successful carrying out of the purpose of the trip took all of Lund's attention and energy. Twice he had been thwarted by the weather from gleaming his golden harvest, and it began to look as if the third attempt might be no more fortunate.

"The Karluk's stout," he said once, "but she ain't built for the Arctic. If we git nipped badly she'll go like an eggshell."

"And then what?" Rainey asked. "Git the gold! That's what we come for. If we have to make sleds an' use the hunters for a dog-team." He laughed indignantly. "We'll make a man of you yet, Rainey, afore we git back."

Lund was snatching sleep in scraps, seeking always to feel a way toward the position of the island through the fog that continually baffled progress. Against all opposition he forced his way until, just after sunset one night, as the dusk swept down, he gave a shout and pointed to a fitful flare over the port bow. Rainey thought it the aurora, but Lund laughed at him. "It's the crater atop the island," he said. "Nothin' dangerous. Reglar lighthouse. Now, boys, he went on, his deep voice ringing with exhilaration, "there's gold in sight! Whistle for a change of weather, every mother's son of you!"

gleam reflected in the eyes of the watchers who were about to invade the island and rob it of its golden sands.

The change of weather came about three in the morning, though not as Lund had hoped. A sudden wind materialized from the north, stiffening the canvas with its ice-laden breath, glazing the schooner wherever moisture dripped, bringing up an angry scud of clouds that fought with the moon. The sea appeared to have thickened. The Karluk went sluggishly, as if she was sailing in a sea of treacle.

CHAPTER XI.

Smoke. When Rainey came on deck the next morning he found the schooner floating in a small lagoon that made the center of a floe. The water in it was slush, half solid. Main and fore were close furled, the headsails also, and the Karluk was nosing against the far end of the rapidly diminishing basin. The wind was still lively.

A deep hum of bursting surf undertoned all other noises and, prisoned as she was, the schooner and her floe were sweeping slowly toward the land in the grip of a current rather than before the gusty wind.

Lund came up within the hour and stood blinking at the brilliance.

He seemed well satisfied with the prospect. "Had breakfast?" he asked Rainey, and then: "All right. We'll git the men aft."

He belloyed an order, and soon every one came trooping, to gather in two groups either side of the cabin skylight. Their faces were eager with the proximity of the gold, yet half sullen as they waited to bear what Lund had to say. Since the attempt against him Lund had said nothing about their shares. They acknowledged him as master, but they still rebelled in spirit.

"There's the island," said Lund. "We'll make it afore sundown. The beach is there, waitin' for us to dig it up. It'll be some job. I don't reckon it's frozen hard, on'y crustified. If it is we'll bust the crust with dynamite. But we got to hop to it. There'll be another cold spell after this one peters out an' the next is like to be permanent. I want the gold washed out afore then, an' us well down the strait. It's up to you to hump yoreselves, an' I'll help the humpin'."

"We'll cradle most of the stuff an', if they's time, we'll flume the silt tail-in's for the fine dust. Providin' we can git a fall of water. There'll be plenty for all hands to do. An' the shares go as first fixed. I ain't expectin' you to do the diggin' an' not git a pinch or two of the dust."

The men's faces lighted, and they shuffled about, looking at one another with grins of relief.

"No cheers?" asked Lund ironically. "Wall, I hardly expected enny. Hanson, you'll be one of the foremen, with pay accordin'. Deming."

"I can't dig," said the hunter truculently. "Neither can Beale, with his ribs."

"You've got a sweet nerve," said Lund. "I reckon you've won enough to be sure of yore shares. If the boys pay up. Enough for you to do some diggin' in yore pockets for Beale. His ribs 'ud be whole if you hadn't started the bolshevik stunt. But I'll find something for both of you to do. Don't let that worry you none."

MOVIE FAN WRECKS TRAIN

Youth Confesses, Police Say, to Derailing Engine.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 5.—A desire to experience the thrill of watching an actual train wreck, which often had fascinated him in the movies, prompted Fred Poller, 18 years old, to derail a train near Fort Newark Thursday, the police said the youth confessed Saturday.

"I've often seen train wrecks like that in the movies," the police said Poller told them, "and I figured I could do it as well."

Poller broke off a switch lock with a chunk of pig iron, the police charged, set the switch in the wrong direction and placed two iron bolts in the frog to keep the switch in position. The youth admitted he made no effort to halt the approaching train and as it struck the switch, the engine was overturned, dragging the tender and first coach with it from the tracks. No one was hurt.

HONOR STANFORD WHITE

New York, Dec. 5.—A pair of bronze doors, presented as a memorial to Stanford White, the architect, who was shot by Harry K. Thaw, will be unveiled at Gould Memorial Library, New York University, next Saturday, it was announced last night.

The doors, which will grace one of the finest examples of White's architectural genius, were designed by his son, Lawrence Grant White and contain 48 separately molded panels, done in Italian Renaissance style. They are presented by a committee of prominent architects, artists and business men.

Unveiling of the doors is in line with the plan to create in Gould Memorial Library an appropriate memorial to American artists, sculptors and architects. An "architects' corner" has been established in the lower hallway, while provision is made in the main reading room for 16 busts of painters and sculptors.

DIES ADDRESSING MOOSE

Tragic End Of Ohio Lawyer Halts Order's Session In Washington.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—Edmund E. Tanner, an attorney of Columbus, Ohio, dropped dead Saturday while addressing the Superior Forum of the Loyal Order of Moose, in session here. He had just completed his address as Chief Justice of the Forum when he fell into his seat.

Secretary Davis, of the Department of Labor, who was present, rushed to the aid of the stricken man, together with other members of the order. The session of the Superior Forum was immediately halted.

Mr. Tanner, who was widely known in fraternal circles, was 53 years old and a native of Circleville.

STATE WINS IN WEST

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 5.—Penn State College's football team came out of the East and defeated the University of Washington eleven, 21 to 7, in University Stadium here Saturday. The Sunnyside lineemen were unable to fathom the Easterners' attack until the closing moments of the third period and the fast Penn State backs gained almost at will, using a varied attack.

W. AND J. UNBEATEN

Washington and Jefferson kept her slate clean together with that of Penn State and Lafayette for this season's struggles on the gridiron when Saturday in an invitation game with Detroit, defeated them by the score of 14-2. Stein, right end, and Erickson, a back, played the stellar roles for the Presidents.

BOWSER SECOND

Bucknell students are claiming second highest scoring honors for their invincible, Bowser, for the 1921 season. He is said to have scored 91 points during the season. "Bo" McMillan, of Centre College, is highest scorer in the East. His total is over 100 markers.

CASHTOWN

Cashtown—Two highly esteemed citizens of Franklin township in the persons of Jacob Deardorff and Harrison Brough have been taken from us, by the hand of death the past week. Friends from Waynesboro were at Mr. Brough's funeral.

Mrs. Maria Lightner is visiting her sister, Mrs. Amos Newman. Mrs. Lightner is from Gettysburg, and on Wednesday entertained Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Kuhn, on the Lincoln Highway. J. Clarence Gallagher and son, Bruce, of Harrisburg, were hunting deer the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Shipley, of Frederick, Maryland, were delayed by the storm at S. M. Kuhn's home on the Lincoln Highway, on Sunday.

Visitors recently of Mrs. Sadie Biesecker were: Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Nicholas and Miss Kathryn Biesecker, from State Hospital, Harrisburg, also George Hoyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Waddles and son, Charles, and daughters, Elizabeth and Florence, visited Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Biesecker recently.

Mrs. N. Albert and three children, from Marysville, visited Mrs. D. R. Biesecker, Tuesday evening.

Two women were meeting for the first time in several months. "Why," gushed the first, who had in the past been on not too cordial terms with the other. "I never thought you would recognize me—it's been so long since we met." "My dear," replied the other, "I had no difficulty whatever. I remember the hat distinctly."—American Legion Weekly.

point she met the trolley car and succeeded in attracting the motorman's attention.

The car was stopped and it was found that for a considerable distance the track was suspended in the air, the rails alone holding it in place. The quick action of Ruth saved the car from certain destruction and its occupants from death.

SKIRTS STAY SHORT

Oriental Styles And Low Waist Lines Coming.

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—Oriental styles and low waist lines with wide graceful sleeves and the skirt slightly longer, but still short enough to retain a "youthful appearance," were recommended for the spring and summer of 1922 by the National Cloak, Suit & Skirt Manufacturers' Association, in convention here Saturday.

The combination of matelasses, plaids, satins or taffetas with plain cloths are suggested, with ornaments of cut steel nail heads, angora wool, braids, stitching, leather trimmings and buckles.

Soft, roomy, sports coats will be popular, it is believed. Some are to be belted, while others fall in loose lines. Patch pockets and notched "throat" and soft rolling collars are expected to be in demand.

Bloused coats with wide voluminous sleeves and low waist lines also are designed.

Three-piece suits are expected to be popular; the dress made on straight hanging lines to be worn with a jaunty little loose type of coat or a smart little cape.

SIX DROWNED IN AUTO

Meet Death When Car Plunges Over Embankment Into Canal.

Toledo, O., Dec. 5.—Six persons—two men, two women and two babies—were drowned Sunday afternoon when the automobile in which they were driving toward Toledo went over a high embankment on the river road, two miles beyond Waterville, eight miles from this city, and dropped into the Erie Canal.

The overturned car and its victims were found by a farmer. None of the victims have so far been identified.

ELEGANT STYLES AND DIFFERENT

Honors are even in the decoration of these attractive afternoon costumes. The first, in heavy crepe satin, is trimmed with embroidery in self-color and fur. The embroidery is so applied as to outline a panel effect on the front of the dress. The sleeves are long, but not as large as some of the latest Chinese styles. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 40-inch satin and 1 1/2 yards for lining.

The crepe satin with pleated edge makes quite an attractive decoration for the second frock of dark blue tricotine, being used on the skirt and full sleeves. A belt of self-material holds in the fullness at the waist, but the round neck is collarless. Medium size requires 2 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

First Model: Pleated View Dress No. 9676. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust and 16 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents. Embroidry No. 12575. Transfer, blue or yellow, 30 cents.

Second Model: Dress No. 9671. Sizes, 34 to 45 inches bust and 15 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

Skilled With Rifle

"Uncle Billy" has been a gunner since boyhood and has hunted deer every season. Next season he expects to get a bigger buck, he says. This is the largest one he has ever shot. He is known by every hunter on the South Mountain in Adams and Franklin counties, and according to authority, is one of the best rifle shot in these counties.

The deer was brought to his home in Hamilton township, a few miles from Fairfield, on Saturday, where it has been viewed by many and is acclaimed as being the finest bag of the season.

RECEIVES WAR WEAPON

Mont Alto To Dedicate in Memory of Soldier Boys.

The gun donated to Mont Alto by the United States Government has been received. It will be placed on the Mont Alto State Bank lawn, where a suitable marker with a tablet will be placed in honor of the town's soldier boys of the World War, in the near future. The gun is a large field piece known as a gatling gun.

DO YOU BELIEVE THIS ONE?

Jacob Small Near Greenmount Kills Two Rabbits With One Shot.

Many people look askance when the expression "killed two birds with one stone" is mentioned in their presence but those people would, in all probability be cynical, when they hear the story of how Jacob Small, of near Greenmount, recently killed two rabbits with one load of buckshot without first sneaking up on a nest of them and blazing away.

All day long Mr. Small had hunted in the hills behind Greenmount and not a single rabbit had fallen victim of his gun. When ready to leave the fields and call it a day he spied a "cotton tail" sitting in the grass about fifteen feet from where he was standing. Slowly he raised his gun and sighted. Then he blazed away. He knew that he had gotten one at least for he saw the fur fly.

But when he went to pick up his quarry, there lay two rabbits side by side. At first Mr. Small thought that possibly the one died of fright, but this was not the case for it seems that rabbit No. 2 was in direct line with rabbit No. 1, and that some of the shot had scattered and killed it.

MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

Go In Comfort

GO at your pleasure—go where you choose and when you choose, with your family or your friends. Enjoy the boundless beauties of nature, the pure air, a lunch in a shady wood, a fishing excursion, a rest by a cool lake or stream.

You can in a Ford. Millions have learned by experience that to own and operate a Ford is not an extravagance; they have learned that the many pleasures derived from a Ford takes the place of other pleasures, and the saving thus made often pays for the car and its maintenance.

Let's talk this matter over. Get the facts and figures.

LEGION TO DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Executive Committee Plans 20-Day Campaign in This State.

Plans for a 20-day, State-wide speaking tour for the purpose of enrolling every former service man or woman of Pennsylvania in the American Legion were outlined Saturday afternoon by Col. Joseph H. Thompson, State commander, at a meeting of the executive committee in the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg.

In addition to the State officials of the Legion and the members of the executive committee, practically all of whom were present, the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary executive committee held their meeting here Saturday. The two sections of the Legion will meet at dinner tonight.

Colonel Thompson explained that in addition to national figures in the Government, there will be many speakers in the membership campaign from various other Legion strongholds. One of these will be Hanford MacNider, the new national commander.

Other Plans Considered

Other affairs taken up by the committee Saturday afternoon were the proposition of moving the headquarters from Philadelphia to Harrisburg, which is to be done, as soon as the Philadelphia lease can be vacated; plans for aiding the disabled service men of the State; preliminary discussion of the 1912 convention at Williamsport; appointment of permanent committees; Christmas activities in the various posts, and a definite decision on the affiliation of the Ladies' Auxiliary and its relation to the Legion.

LAMENT OF WIFE OF 16

Mrs. Drexler Had 17th Husband Picked Out When Sleuths Got Her.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Federal agents broke up Mrs. Helen Drexler's matrimonial Government allotment plan just as she was making plans to marry her seventeenth husband in three years, according to her story Saturday to Captain Thomas I. Porter, of the Secret Service. By listing as the son of each husband, the little boy born from her second experience in matrimony, she added $5 a month extra to the flood of allotment checks she received from the Government, she said. Federal officials calculated she had received $500 a month.

"I was working in Boston when I met Wilfrid Taylor," she related. "The draft got him and soon after landing in France he was killed."

Mrs. Drexler's brother also was killed in action overseas. Her little boy is Wilfrid Taylor's son.

"I had to go to work or get married, so I got married. Several months afterward my husband joined the navy so I got two allotment checks. John Kelly, of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was the next. I left him and married another sailor."

"Dear me, I can't remember all the names. Finally I came to Chicago and married three sailors in quick succession. Albert Drexler, a Camp Grant soldier, was the sixteenth. I had a sailor picked out for the next but your agents arrested me."

SPY PLEADS FOR LIFE

Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 5.—Sentenced here Saturday to die in the electric chair John Shurilla, who had been convicted of the killing of Joe Greco, at Wickhaven, Pa., announced through his counsel, that he would ask the good offices of the Navy Department to intervene on the ground that he had contributed important inventions to the Government during the World War.

Shurilla was arrested in Pittsburgh in 1920, charged with shoplifting and the police stated that documents found in his effects indicated he had been a spy in the service of Germany during the war. He was turned over to the authorities here on the murder charge and the prosecution at the trial brought evidence to show that the night before he was to be married to a Perryopolis, Pa., woman, he killed Greco, robbed him of $400, and intended to use the money to pay his wedding expenses. Shurilla presented no defense.

PEPTO-MANGAN MAKES BLOOD GOOD

Physicians Rely Upon
It. Sold in Liquid or Tablet Form

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a blood builder. It restores blood to its natural vigor. Weak blood, clogged with poisons, causes that exhausted, dead tired feeling. It shows in the complexion, which becomes dull-hued, pale or sallow. That is because there is an absence of the red corpuscles which give skin a healthy, rosy color.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken regularly every day soon makes new blood rich and red. Physicians have prescribed it for years in cases of anemia, or poor blood condition. The weak blood is fortified by a fresh supply of red corpuscles. The feeling of physical vigor returns in a remarkable manner. Instead of a drooping, down-at-the-heel feeling, there is live, wide-awake energy. Sleep is more restful and the appetite sharper.

Any druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form. Look for the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," on the package.

FALL OF MARK IS SERIOUS PROBLEM

Paper Protest Against Trading Outside of Germany During Depression.

(By Associated Press)
Coblenz, Germany, Dec. 5—German newspapers for weeks have been waging a campaign of protest against what is termed the "selling out of Germany" to foreigners who have invaded the country to purchase goods since the mark began its sharp decline early in October.

In the occupied area the influx of foreigners became so great within a few days that the Allied authorities soon decided that some concerted action was necessary to protect the residents.

The president of the Rhineland province, acting under direction of the Inter-Allied Rhineland High Commission, issued a decree prohibiting purchase of merchandise by foreigners not actually residing within the territory of occupation. This order does not affect members of the Allied military forces, the Rhineland commission nor other foreigners who were in the occupied area on legitimate business.

Officials deemed that this step toward trade regulation was necessary to prevent retailers from selling all their stocks to foreigners taking advantage of the low rate of exchange on foreign currencies at a time when the prices on goods in the German stores had not been advanced, or at least not marked up in comparison with the depreciation of the German money.

For days, buyers poured into the Rhineland on every train, and by automobile from Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, France and other nearby countries and business in the stores of Coblenz, Cologne and Aix-la-Chapelle flourished, as it never had before. The foreigners bought everything on sale and in whatever quantity could be arranged with the retailer. This abnormal demand for goods continued for days and reached such a stage at times that storekeepers found it necessary to close their doors, because of the crowds, or because the shelves were empty. Clerks worked 16 and 18 hours a day trying to keep up with the demand.

Many articles of American manufacture were on sale in Coblenz stores at retail prices much lower

WEDS 6TH TIME AT NINETY

With Bride of 26 They Hike on Honey-moon.

Cincinnati, Dec. 5—James Kennedy, 90-year-old bridegroom, started his sixth honeymoon by walking part way from Winona, Tenn., with his 26-year-old bride as an example for other young married couples.

"Ninety is a lot more sensible age to get married than 19, like a lot of them young snips do," he said. "When a man is 90 he has good sense, so he don't make mistakes."

"You can learn a powerful lot in ninety years, so's when you get married you know what you are doin'."

"I started marryin' when I was 23 and I'm 90 now and still at it. I'm sorta getting used to it by now. When you haven't had more than one wife you don't know anything."

Mary Jane confirmed the fact that Kennedy had learned a lot. She said it was love at first sight when they met.

"He met me and married me in an hour. He said he wanted some one to do housework for him and I said I worked for $2 a week and he said he would give me $3. Then he asked me if I wouldn't marry him. I said all right, so we were married."

GENTLEMEN ROBBERS

New York, Dec. 5—Fashionably attired even to buttonnieres in their overcoat lapels, and effecting Chesterfieldian charm of manner, three armed bandits held up a Bronx cigar store Saturday night, rifled the safe and cash register and drove off in a motorcar. Their loot totaled $125.

One of the trio led the clerk to a back room and covered him with a revolver. Another collected the booty, while the third went behind the counter, prepared to serve customers. As the robbers were getting ready to leave a jeweler next door came in for change for a $10 bill, which the "clerk" said he didn't have, whereupon his companion, who had emptied the safe, obligingly gave him the change as they hurried away.
